TAX & ACCOUNTING SURPASSES 200,000 PORTAL CLIENTS

Dexter, MI, May 13, 2008—The Tax & Accounting business of Thomson Reuters, formerly Thomson Tax & Accounting, announced today that more than 200,000 customers are being served using portal technology. This number includes clients using NetClient CS™, a full-service client portal system; NetStaff CS™, a portal system for firm staff; UltraTax/1040 Portals, designed for annual 1040 clients; and Web Employee, a portal service for the employees of the accountant's clients.

"Exceeding 200,000 portals marks a significant milestone for Tax & Accounting," stated Teresa Mackintosh, CPA.CITP, Senior Vice President, Professional Software & Services, Tax & Accounting, Thomson Reuters. "The numbers confirm that portal usage has moved up the technology adoption curve. It took approximately five years to hit the first 100,000 portals and only one year to hit the next 100,000."

"The dramatic increase in use is a clear indication that the accounting profession is starting to adopt advanced Internet technologies. It is also testament to the quality and value of our secure portal services," said Frank Swierz, Senior Director, Software Development, Tax & Accounting, Thomson Reuters.

"Our portal services enable accounting firms of any size to offer their customers the convenience of online services. This gives firms a strong competitive advantage, while at the same time making their clients very happy. It's win-win," stated Mackintosh.

Tax & Accounting offers an expansive line of portal options designed specifically for the tax and accounting profession. The company has offered portal services since 2001. For more information on Tax & Accounting's portal offerings, please visit us at CS.Thomson.com.
