Popular Payroll Service from Thomson Reuters Goes Mobile

myPay Solutions client employees can perform many payroll functions on the go with new mobile app.

DEXTER, Mich, March 7, 2012—The Tax & Accounting business of Thomson Reuters today announced the release of a myPay Solutions® mobile app that provides employees of myPay Solutions clients with mobile access to a variety of payroll information and activities.

The free app is compatible with iOS and Android™ smartphones, tablets, and other mobile devices. It enables employees to:

- Enter time for the current pay period
- View time entered for prior pay periods
- View check stubs and W-2s
- View and update W-4 information

Scott Fleszar, vice president, strategic marketing, Tax & Accounting, Thomson Reuters, said the new app is a response to today's increasingly mobile workplaces, where boundaries and geographical limitations continue to disappear.

"The small to medium-sized businesses that use myPay Solutions need maximum flexibility, and this is another way for us to provide it," Fleszar said. "I think the myPay Solutions mobile app is going to do a lot to increase flexibility and productivity for employees who work from home, travel, or just appreciate the convenience of being able to work anytime, anywhere."

The app is available now for download from the Apple® App Store and Android Market.

myPay Solutions delivers comprehensive payroll services for small- and medium-sized businesses, offered through a network of referring accountants. Referring accountants receive the benefits of offering a comprehensive payroll service, as well as an ongoing revenue share from every payroll processed.
